Hello, Todd,

Upon the recommendation of Louise Phaneuf, Town Clerk of my town of residence where I live and own my home with my husband James and our son Adam, I write to express our grave concerns over the fracker Invenergy. An excerpt from what I originally emailed to Louise follows:

Rest assured that we townspeople who own property, reside here, and pay the many taxes to live and own here are quite united in our belief and insistence that Invenergy is a negative, destructive proposal and therefore one we are determined to prevent from happening. And any attempt to try to describe our town as having no say, no authority in this matter, is ludicrous. Any and all lawmakers in this town and state are well advised to remember just who it is that put them in their elected positions: we the voters! Already we are winning the political leaders of our town and district (Kudos to Cale Keable and Paul Fogarty) coming over to our side and wising up, seeing the light and together with us declaring NO to that vile pestilence Invenergy. No fracking in our town of Burrillville!

Sincerely, Raffaella & James and Adam (the Kane family in Harrisville, RI)
