Division 11-2-ELEC/GAS

Request:

Does National Grid have a system of employee pay or skill grades or some other system to provide comparable employee rankings that apply to service company employees? If so, please describe.

Response:

National Grid uses a broadband salary structure for management employees that is aligned to the market median in the three major geographic regions in which National Grid operates. A broadband structure utilizes fewer pay levels with a wider span of pay ranges within a pay level. This type of structure allows for employee movement to the next level in the structure when there is a significant change in responsibility and strategic impact on the organization, while still providing opportunity for career development and pay increases within the pay level.

National Grid's banding structure consisting of six salary bands beginning with Band A at the executive level through Band F at the associate/administrative level. Band A includes the most senior corporate officers, such as executive and senior vice presidents. Band B consists of less senior officers (vice presidents). Employees in Band C are generally directors who report directly to an officer. Band D includes managers who have at least one direct report and may directly report to an officer, while Band E includes supervisors who have at least one direct report who themselves report to a director or manager. Employees in Band F are general administrative staff. Bands D, E and F also include employees with unique career paths.

The band designation for a position is determined by the level of responsibility within the organization, knowledge, experience and skills required to perform the job duties. Within each salary band, there are multiple market reference points ("MRP") that are established based on a cluster of jobs with similar responsibilities and strategic impact and reflect what the market pays for a fully-qualified person performing at a competent level in that position. Employees' pay is managed relative to the MRP for their position.

Division 11-3-ELEC/GAS

Request:

If National Grid does have some system ranking employees, does it pay employees of the same ranking in different locations the same pay, on average? If not, why not?

Response:

National Grid recognizes that to attract and retain qualified talent, National Grid must pay competitively within the three major geographic regions in which it operates. National Grid has therefore established three separate salary structures for each of these major geographic regions, which are designed to be competitive at the 50th percentile of the metro New England, metro New York, and Upstate New York general industry marketplace, including the energy sector, when compared with positions of similar scope and function. The structures are periodically tracked to ensure that total compensation levels remain at competitive levels.

Although National Grid strives to pay its management employees at market median and pay may vary because of geographic differences, other factors, such as individual performance, experience and internal equity reasons, are taken into consideration when making employee pay decisions.

Request:

Does National Grid utilize Asset Management Agreements (“AMAs”) to manage its gas assets in any of its operating companies? If so:

- a) List companies that utilize AMAs
- b) Provide the amount of assets that are managed by AMAs in each operating company.

Response:

Yes. National Grid utilizes Asset Management Agreements (“AMAs”) to manage its gas assets in other operating companies. Please see Attachment DIV 11-12-ELEC/GAS for a listing of the operating companies that currently utilize AMAs to manage their gas assets along with the amount of assets that are managed under the AMAs.

Division 11-13-ELEC/GAS

Request:

On p. 19 Mr. Laflamme states that Stranded Costs are removed in the computation of Gross Margins. Please list the operating companies that still have Stranded Costs.

Response:

During the calendar year ended December 31, 2011, the following National Grid USA operating companies still had Stranded Cost recoveries included in Operating Revenues:

Nantucket Electric Company
Massachusetts Electric Company
New England Power Company
Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation (Electric)
The Narragansett Electric Company (Electric)

Division 11-15-ELEC/GAS

Request:

In MDL-1 p. 7, what is meant by the label "Multiple" under Narragansett Electric?

Response:

"Multiple" refers to the multiple business segments under which Narragansett Electric operates. The Company operates in the electric distribution and electric transmission segments.

Division 11-22-ELEC/GAS

Request:

If any of the reallocation of costs between the Rhode Island gas and electric utilities was due to anything other than the treatment of service company costs (i.e. allocation of costs from other operating companies), please explain these reallocations.

Response:

The reallocation of costs to and from the Rhode Island gas and electric utilities, resulting from both the Ernst & Young study and revisions to the cost allocation methodology, is due to the treatment of service company costs.

Division 11-23-ELEC/GAS

Request:

Please indicate, by FERC account, any decreases in direct Narragansett electric or gas costs that are reflected in the rate filing because of consolidation of service companies.

Response:

The Company has not included any discrete adjustments in its rate filing for the consolidation of service companies. U.S. Restructuring initiatives were designed assuming a consolidated service company structure, and therefore any savings generated would be captured as part of U.S. Restructuring savings adjustments. The Company has included a reduction to its Narragansett Electric rate year cost of service of $2.6 million and a reduction to its Narragansett Gas rate year cost of service of $1.1 million, as shown on Schedules MDL-3-ELEC, Page 7, and Schedule MDL-3-GAS, Page 7, respectively, to reflect all productivity and efficiency savings attributable to the U.S. Restructuring program.

Division 11-24-ELEC/GAS

Request:

Please provide all Requests for Proposals ("RFPs") issued by Narragansett Electric for the services procured from affiliates, including the Service Company, for the years 2010 and 2011. Include all bid responses, bid scorings and analyses and an explanation of why Narragansett Electric did not issue RFPs where services were procured without RFP.

Response:

The purpose of the National Grid service company structure is to centralize personnel so that they can perform services on a shared, streamlined basis for multiple operating companies. The functions performed by those personnel are "in-house" functions and would be performed in-house by the individual operating companies of National Grid if the shared-service structure did not exist. These functions include, as an example, accounting and regulatory services, which are necessary elements of the Company's business. These types of services require in depth and ongoing knowledge of the individual operating company for which the service is being provided, which would be difficult to achieve with an outside vendor. Moreover, by using in-house resources to perform these functions, National Grid is assured that it has work forces that are 100 percent dedicated to those functions and, at the same time, is able to use those dedicated workforces to provide services efficiently and with economies of scale. It would not be feasible or cost-efficient for the Company to outsource these necessary functions to an outside vendor, which would be the purpose of any RFP that would be issued by the Company.

Please note that when the Company or the service companies decide to procure services from third party vendors, RFPs are used to solicit and analyze offers.

It should also be noted that all services provided to the Company by an affiliated service company (or other affiliated company) are provided at cost. This is not the case when services are procured from outside vendors who are profit-seeking organizations.

Division 11-25-ELEC/GAS

Request:

Response:

Please see the Company's response to Division 11-24-ELEC/GAS.
