

Sean P. Searles, Vice President/Program Manager

Mr. Searles has been serving as the Program Manager for the Narragansett Bay Commission's CSO Abatement Program since May of 2016. He has over 39 years of experience as senior program manager, principal-in-charge, and owner's representative for more than $12 billion of capital improvement and development projects – including 14 years as program manager for three large wet weather Consent Decree (CD) programs totaling nearly $8 billion in value. He has had senior management responsibility for integrated teams delivering projects in environments of high visibility and intensive pressure. His client service experience is extensive, including working closely with elected officials and their technical staffs providing stakeholder management and communications, as well as public outreach for high profile projects. Sean has proven success with internal workforce development, team integration and client staff training and mentoring and he has helped build local economies through his commitment to leveraging CD program work for the benefit of local residents and WBE/MBE businesses. Sean is a licensed professional engineer in the states of Virginia and Rhode Island and holds a Project Management Professional certification from the Project Management Institute.
